

Alster.

RATHMELTON.

H. Slater's

PLACES OF WORSHIP,
And their Ministers.
PARISH CHURCH, Church street—Rev. William Atkins, rector; Rev. William Welsh, curate.
ROMAN CATHOLIC CHAPEL—Reverend Charles O'Donnell, parish priest.
FIRST PRESBYTERIAN MEETING HOUSE, Meeting-house lane—Rev. James Read, minister.
SECOND PRESBYTERIAN MEETING HOUSE, Meeting-house lane—Reverend Samuel Gamble, D.D. minister.

THIRD PRESBYTERIAN MEETING HOUSE, Bridge end—Rev. Matthew Wilson, minister.
WESLEYAN METHODIST CHAPEL, Meeting-house lane—ministers various.
Public Institutions, &c.
CONSTABULARY STATION, Bridge st.—William Meredith, sub-inspector.
DISPENSARY, Bridge street—Benjamin Johnston, M.D. surgeon.
EXCISE OFFICE, Market cross.
FEVER HOSPITAL, Ferry road—Benjamin Johnston, M.D. surgeon.

READING ROOM, Bridge street—Henry White, secretary.
STAMP OFFICE, Castle st.—Jane Hunter, sub-distributor.

CARS.
To LETTERKENNY, a Mail Car, from the Post Office, every morning at half-past nine.
To LONDONDERRY (by Fort Stewart Ferry), a Car, from Grier's Hotel, every Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday morning at half-past seven.

SAINTFIELD.

OR TULLAGHANOEVE, is a small market-town, and a parish in the barony of Upper Castlereagh, county of Down, 100 miles N. N. E. from Dublin, 11 S. S. E. from Belfast, the same distance N. W. from Downpatrick, 10 E. from Dromore, 9 E. S. E. from Lisburn, the same distance N. W. by W. from Killyleagh, 5 N. N. E. from Ballynahinch, and the same distance N. N. W. from Crossgar; situated at the intersection of the roads, branching respectively to Belfast, Downpatrick, Ballynahinch and Comber. Tullaghanoeve, the Irish name of the town, means the 'Hill of the Saint', or 'Saint-hill' translated freely, if not improperly, into Saintfield. On the 9th of June, 1798, a brisk skirmish occurred here between a party of the yeomanry and the insurgents, when the latter obtained the advantage, and temporary possession of the place. The town is indebted for its present neat appearance and prosperous condition, to Nicholas Price, Esq., the proprietor and lord of the manor, who, in 1802, improved the town in several

POST OFFICE, Main-street, John F. Lawry, Post Master.—Letters from DUBLIN and various places arrive and are despatched every morning at twenty-five minutes past seven.—Letters from BELFAST and various places arrive and are despatched every afternoon at half-past four.

GENTRY AND CLERGY.
Blackwood William, Esq. Saintfield House
Edmonston Rev. Geo. Glebe House
M'Logan Rev. Richard, Main st
Patterson Rev. David, Down st
Price Nicholas, Esq. Saintfield House
Wallace Rev. James, Main st
PROFESSIONAL PERSONS,
INCLUDING SCHOOLS.
Alley George Andrew, A.B. academy, Main st
Gordon Alexander, surgeon and apothecary, Main st [street]
Higginbotham John, school, Comber
NATIONAL SCHOOL, Main street—Patrick M'Mullin, master
Reid Samuel, surgeon and apothecary, Main st

HOTELS.
Bradley Alexander, Main st
M'Roberts Archibald, Main st
SPIRIT & PORTER DEALERS,
ALL IN MAIN-STREET.
Coulter Andrew Murray Hugh
Hay Jane Murray Patrick
Hoggs Hugh Quinn Samuel
Mageean Andrew Ritchie Joseph
Mageean Charles Savage John
Mason Arthur Spratt John
Massey John Thompson Wm.
Murray Felix Todd James

SHOPKEEPERS & TRADERS.
The names without address are in Main-st
Bell George, grocer
Bell James, woollen draper
Brown Charles, boot and shoemaker, Down street
Cosby William, earthenware dealer
Craig John, provision dealer
Craig Samuel, tailor, Down st
Dick Eliza, straw bonnet maker
Duff Samuel, baker
Dunfy Bernard, butcher, Market
Gibson William, shoe maker
Holmes Robert, provision dealer
Hutchison Hugh, cabinet maker
Jennings Henry, linen and woollen draper and haberdasher
Lechuy James, butcher, Market
M'Boone Alexander, miller, Main road
M'Geeyn A. thur, butcher, Market
M'Gibbon James, woollen draper
M'Robert Margaret, bonnet maker
Mason Hugh, saddler and harness maker [maker]
Miller Adam, saddler and harness maker
Miller Edw. saddler & harness maker
Moody George, linen and woollen draper and haberdasher
Oswald Andrew, ironmonger and woollen draper, Down st
Owens John, butcher, market [st
Priestly Wm. woollen draper, Down

Shaw David, leather seller
Shaw Mary, grocer
Spears Jane and Margaret, straw bonnet makers
Spratt William, watch & clock maker
Stewart Robert, grocer
Thompson James, woollen draper
Thompson John, grocer and iron-monger
Todd James, linen & woollen draper
Wilson Andrew, linen and woollen draper and haberdasher
Woods Archibald, leather seller

PLACES OF WORSHIP,
And their Ministers.
ESTABLISHED CHURCH, Main street—Rev. George Edmonston, vicar.
ROMAN CATHOLIC CHAPEL, Main st—Rev. Richard M'Logan, parish priest.
PRESBYTERIAN MEETING HOUSE, Down street—Rev. David Patterson, minister.
PRESBYTERIAN MEETING HOUSE, Main street—Rev. James Wallace, minister.

COACHES.
To BELFAST, a Coach, from M'Roberts' Hotel, every morning at eight—and one, from Todd's, Main st, at same hour.
To DOWNPATRICK, a Coach, from M'Roberts' Hotel, every evening at half-past six—and one, from Todd's, at the same hour.

STEWARTSTOWN.

OR STEWARTSTOWN, is a highly respectable and flourishing little market-town, in the parish of Donaghery, barony of Dungannon, county of Tyrone; about 100 miles N. from Dublin, 51 W. from Belfast, 45 S. from Coleraine, 20½ N. from Armagh, 10 S. from Money-more, 7½ N. N. E. from Dungannon, 5½ S. S. E. from Cookstown, and 3 N. by E. from Coal-Island; situated on the road from Armagh to Coleraine, and about 3 miles W. N. W. from the nearest part of Lough Neagh. This place derived its original name Stewartstown, from Sir Andrew Stewart, to whom James I. granted the surrounding district; in the year 1603, or soon afterwards, he erected a castle, or rather converted other buildings into one, and laid the foundation of the present town. The surrounding country is undulated and fertile, except perhaps that part contiguous to Lough Neagh, the mud of which is flat and marshy. There are some lovely patches of scenery in this district, which is studded with many seats of the gentry, and not very neighbourhood can be more respectable than that immediately surrounding Stewartstown. About two miles from the town, in an extensive and improved demesne, Directory.

STEWARTSTOWN.

Alster.

with a fine park, is Stewart Hall, the seat of Earl Castle-Stewart, who derives his titles of Baron and Earl from this place. The town consists of a spacious square and three principal streets, well-arranged, and the houses well-built of stone and roofed with slate—many of the habitations are large and handsome, several of modern erection, and the whole place has an appearance of cheerfulness and prosperity. The market-house, a handsome building, stands in the centre of the town. Petty sessions are held on alternate Tuesdays, and a court monthly for the manor of Castle-Stewart, in which debts to the amount of 40s. are recoverable. The town at one time carried on an extensive trade in the manufacture of linen and union cloth, and there is still business done of some consideration in this branch, and likewise in lime, quarried in the neighbourhood. The town derives a good inland business for the supply of the neighbourhood, and additional advantages from its situation as a place of thoroughfare.

The parish of Donaghery is a very neat and commodious structure: the living is a rectory, of which the Rev. James Geraghty is the present respected incumbent. The other places of worship are two Presbyterian meeting-houses; a remarkably handsome Wesleyan Methodists' chapel, and a Roman Catholic chapel, now being rebuilt. The benevolent institutions comprise a school, each of the church education society and of the national board; and an excellent dispensary, and a loan fund. There are some remains of the old castle, but they have long been in a neglected state, and retain scarcely any traces of their original character. The market is held on Wednesday, and the fairs on the third Wednesday of every month. The town contained, in 1841, 1,082 inhabitants.

POST OFFICE, Joseph Dudgeon, Post Master.—Letters from DUBLIN, BELFAST and NEWRY and all parts SOUTH, also from ENGLAND and SCOTLAND, arrive every morning at half-past seven, and are despatched every afternoon at five.—Letters from COLERAINE and the NORTH arrive every afternoon at five, and are despatched every morning at half-past seven.

NOBILITY, GENTRY AND CLERGY.

Allen Rev. Robert, Lisnigh
Anderson James, Esq. Ross
Atwell Rev. William, Clonoe Glebe
Bailey Rev. Kennedy, D.D. Artrea
Bell Andrew Thos. Esq. Bellmount
Castle-Stewart the Right Hon. the Earl of, Stewart Hall [kairn]
Caulfield Edward H. Esq. J.P. Drum-Creighton James, Esq. Sherrygroom
Daily Rev. James, Stewartstown
Dawson Thomas, Esq. Brookend
Devlin Felix, Esq. Ivy Vale
Finlay Rev. Moses, Ardpatrick
Fitzpatrick Rev. Moses, Stewartstown

Freckleton William, Esq. Newport Trench
Gauson Rev. J. C. Elagh [Glebe]
Geraghty Rev. James, Donaghery
Gilmour Thomas, Esq. Belleville
Green Rev. Henry, Ballyclog Glebe
Hunter James, Esq. Mountjoy
Jackson Rev. John J. Mullanain House
Jackson Mrs. —, Mullanain House
Lee Mr. William, Cloghoy
Lirdesay J. Esq. J. P. (deputy-lieutenant), Loughry
Little Mrs. Sarah, Stewartstown
M'Connell Hugh, Esq. Curglassen
M'Curdy Rev. Saml. Tauralemon
M'Entire James, Esq. Eary
M'Kenna Rev. Thomas, Arboe
M'Niece Rev. Thomas, Arboe Glebe
M'Reynolds Oliver, Esq. Dromore
M'Reynolds Samuel, Esq. Dromore
M'Reynolds Thomas, Esq. Kingsmill
Megaw William, Esq. Eary House
Park Mrs. Martha, Stewartstown
Porter Thomas H. D.D. Ballymully Glebe, Tullylogue
Seaton Forbes Galbraith, Esq. Ross
Waney Rev. Bernard, Clonoe
Watt John, Esq. Anketell Lodge

PROFESSIONAL PERSONS, INCLUDING SCHOOLS.

CHURCH EDUCATION SOCIETY'S SCHOOL—Henry Wade, master
Dudgeon Jos. clerk of petty sessions
Fairervis Jas. surgeon & apothecary
Holmes William, attorney (and local crown solicitor)
Little John, attorney
NATIONAL SCHOOL, James Larkin, master; Sarah Larkin, mistress
O'Neill James, land surveyor and valuator
Smyth Charles, day school

Waugh Thos. physician & apothecary
Whittle W. B. surgeon

LIME MERCHANTS.

Dunn John, Mullanain
Means John
Park William
Quin James, Killycolpy
Robson Hugh

LINEN MANUFACTURERS.

M'Geagh John [agent]
Russell Samuel
Smyth William (& cotton), Jas. Carr,
Woods Claudius

HOTEL.

Weir Samuel

SPIRIT & PORTER DEALERS.

Barclay John Henderson Thos.
Brown William Hide Henry
Deragh John Hunter John C.
Ferguson Alexr. M'Anespie Chas.
Fox Denis Martin John
Galway James Wood William
Gilerist James

SHOPKEEPERS & TRADERS.

Alexander James, watch and clock maker
Anderson Charles, land steward and gardener, Stewart Hall
Beattie Robert, grocer [dealer]
Boyd James, baker and earthenware
Campbell Andrew, grocer, ironmonger, & hardware & grain merchant
Clements Henry, hatter
Clements Leticia, hatter and grocer
Creany John, blacksmith
Dinning James, linen dyer
Donnelly Jas. tailor [dashers]
Dudgeon Bessy & Mary Ann, haberdashers
Dunseith John, tailor
Faris William, grocer
Fleming Boyd, grain merchant
Graham Geo. boot and shoe maker
Hide Henry, grocer & clothes broker
Hughes George, shoe maker
Kelso Hugh, grocer and hardware, and leather seller
Kernan John, tailor
Lecky William, shoe maker
Lee Alex. grain merchant, Ivy lodge
Little Alexander, linen and woollen draper and haberdasher
Little James C. grocer, and wine, spirit, leather & timber merchant
M'Alisky John, carpenter & shuttle maker
M'Gaban Patrick, haberdasher
M'Gaw Juo. watch and clock maker
M'Geagh James and Son, linen and woollen drapers and haberdashers

M'Glone Hugh, tailor
M'Kamish Adam, carpenter
Mackarel John, baker
M'Manus James, blacksmith
M'Rory Thomas, painter and glazier
Mateer James, haberdasher
Murtagh Bernard, grocer and earthenware dealer
O'Neill Francis, clothes broker
O'Neill James, grocer
Park Jas. superintendent of cranes
Park John, haberdasher
Park Samuel, cooper
Park Wm. linen and woollen draper
Park William, jun. ironmonger and hardware, leather, wine, spirit and timber merchant [maker]
Quin James, saddler and harness
Quin Sarah, milliner & haberdasher
Reid James, straw bonnet maker
Robinson Thomas, baker
Simms Eliza, dress maker
Warnock William, house painter
Weir Samuel, grocer and earthenware dealer
Wood William, inspector of linen, linen yarn and flax
Woods John, baker

PLACES OF WORSHIP, And their Ministers.

PARISH CHURCH—Rev. James Geraghty, rector; Rev. John J. Jackson, curate.
ROMAN CATHOLIC CHAPEL—Rev. James Daily, parish priest; Rev. Moses Fitzpatrick, curate.
PRESBYTERIAN MEETING HOUSE—Rev. Robert Allen, minister.
PRESBYTERIAN MEETING HOUSE—Rev. Samuel M'Curdy, minister.
WESLEYAN METHODIST CHAPEL—ministers various.

CONSTABULARY STATION—John Brownlee, constable.
DISPENSARY—W. B. Whittle, surgeon.
LOAN FUND OFFICE—Claudius Wood, clerk. [sub-distributor].
STAMP OFFICE—William Park, jun

COACHES.

Passing through Stewartstown.
To DUBLIN, the Royal Mail (from Coleraine), every evening at five; goes through Dungannon, Moy, Charlemont, Armagh, &c.
To COLERAINE, the Royal Mail (from Dublin), every morning at twenty minutes past seven; goes thro' Cookstown, Moneymore, Magherafelt, Maghera, &c. &c.
To COOKSTOWN, a Coach (from Portadown), every evening at eight.
To PORTADOWN, a Coach (from Cookstown), every morning at seven; goes through Coals Island.